We, the members of the graduating class of 1937, hereby respectfully dedicate this the twenty-second volume of the PHIPSLI, to Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Rawls, graduates of Elon College. They have served her faithfully and ardently. Dr. Rawls is an active member of the Board of Trustees and an outstanding benefactor of the college. Mrs. Rawls is loved by all those connected with the school for her helpful interest. We deem it a privilege to dedicate our Annual to these staunch Christians.

F O R

This edition of the PHIPSICLI presents to you a record of one year of "history in the making". Many things which seem insignificant at the moment of occurrence have a way of eventually finding their way into history books. It is probable that the activities herein covered will never startle a busy world in years to come. But it is our hope that this book will serve a vital function in furnishing the history books of memory which will become a possession of Elon College students and faculty members.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF ELON COLLEGE

An extraordinary session of the Southern Convention was held at Graham, N. C., in 1888 for the purpose of ratifying a lease for the church on Graham Normal College. This institution, which had its beginning before the Civil War, was then in the hands of Dr. W. S. Long. Finding its equipment inadequate, the convention elected a board to select a suitable location, erect necessary buildings, and secure a charter from the state. The members of the board were: Dr. W. S. Long, Dr. J. P. Barrett, Col. J. H. Harden and Dr. G. S. Watson.

Having visited all the places proposed as possible locations, the board met at Mill Point, Dec. 20, 1888, and decided to accept the site offered there—a beautiful oak grove. The campus is the gift of Mr. W. H. Trollinger, of Haw River, N. C. The people of the community subscribed four thousand dollars.

The General Assembly of North Carolina chartered the college on March 11, 1889. Just two months later the first dirt was dug for the foundation of the first building. The college opened its doors to students Sept. 2, 1890.

The first president was Dr. W. S. Long. Dr. J. U. Newman came with Dr. Long from Graham College, and has continued his service to the college from the first day to the present.

The original plant consisted of the Administration Building and the East Dormitory, although neither was completed at the opening. In the early years the young men lived on the third floor of the Administration Building and the young ladies occupied East Dormitory.

Rev. W. W. Staley, of Suffolk, Va., succeeded Dr. Long as president in 1895 and served as non-resident president for eleven years, with Dr. Newman as his dean for nine years and Dr. J. O. Atkinson, the other two years.

Upon Dr. Staley's resignation in 1906, Dr. E. L. Moffitt became president. During his administration West Dormitory and the Power Plant were built, and light, heat, and water were provided.

Dr. Moffitt resigned in 1911, and Dr. W. A. Harper, then a member of the faculty, was elected in his place.

His first project was the raising of the Alumni Building fund, generously donated by Elon Alumni. The boys' dormitory and gymnasium were erected in 1913.

His second project was to get Elon accredited. This was accomplished in 1915.

In 1919 Dr. Harper undertook to raise the $125,000 standardization fund as permanent endowment for the college. The culmination was a fund of $380,000.

Other buildings added to the campus during these years were: the Ladies Hall, the Men's Club, the West End Hall, and the Laboratory Building (known now as the Publishing House).

Early in the morning of January 18, 1923, the Administration Building, nucleus of all college activities, was burned to the ground. This fire proved a real challenge to the constituency and friends of Elon College. The challenge was nobly accepted, and a building program was launched immediately.

The citizens of Alamance County, led by Col. R. L. Holt, of Burlington, N. C., came to the rescue by pledging $100,000 for a new administration building.

The Carlton family—Mr. L. E. Carlton, Mr. H. A. Carlton, Mr. P. J. Carlton, and Mrs. T. S. Parrott—always staunch friends of the college, donated a splendid new library building.

Messrs. J. B. and B. N. Duke, sons of Artelia Roney Duke, who was born in Alamance County, paid fitting tribute to the memory of their mother by donating the Duke Science Building.

Among many others, Hon. William Frank Corwith gave generously to the college.

Mr. J. M. Darden made possible the building of Whitley Memorial Auditorium.

Mr. Michael Orban, of Whittier, California, erected the Mooney Religious Education Building in memory of his father-in-law, Rev. Isaac Mooney. The sole purpose of this building was to train men and women in Religious Education. The third floor is equipped for an integrated and graded Church school program. This building is said to be the only one of its type on a liberal arts campus.

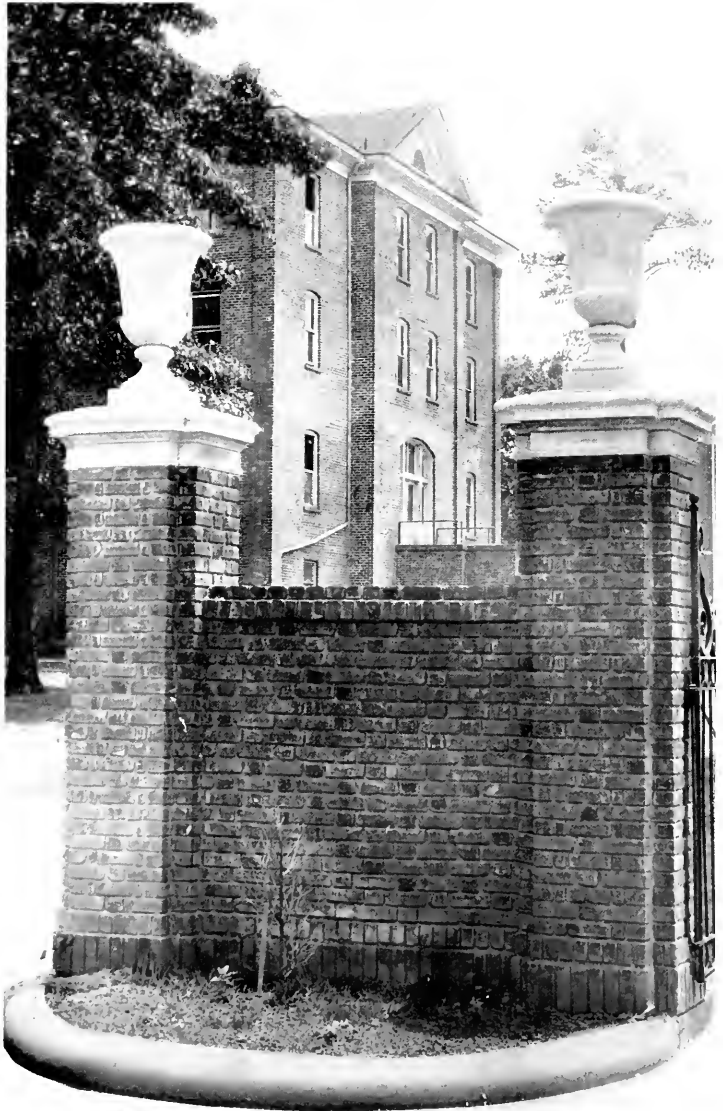

So, out of the ashes there arose a new Elon—five buildings in place of one, all fire-proof, completely adequate, and beautiful.

Elon was admitted into the Southern Association of Colleges in 1926.

Following President Harper's resignation in 1931, Dr. L. E. Smith, Pastor of the Christian Temple, Norfolk, Virginia, became president.

Elon, like all other institutions, suffered during the recent financial depression. Elon lost her membership in the Southern Association of Colleges in 1932, but the literary approval remained the same.

Parallel with the improvement of the economic situation of the Southland, President Smith has been able to reduce substantially the indebtedness of the institution. At the same time, the student body has materially increased.

"If it be a gentleman and a scholar ye seek, ye have found him."

Quiet, unassuming, studious, and capable is Wayne: the type of fellow who registers for a purpose and an ideal. Wayne has been with us a short two years, but in that time we have learned to respect him as a scholar and a true gentleman. He has been lucky during his campus days to have an object of affection near at hand when his hours of tireless study have sharpened his appreciation for woman, nature's noblest piece of architecture.

Louise is characterized by her continual worry over whether or not she's passing her work. For some reason, she always manages to "just get by". Maybe it's the letters—to say nothing of the packages—that frequently arrive from New Jersey which offer the inspirations for all that she gets done.

"A jolly unselfish personality is the greatest gift of all."

Nancy's inability to put her feelings into words is eloquent because of her absolute sincerity. Her greatest disappointment is the betrayal of a friend, but her motto is "Innocent unless proved guilty." Her unselfishness knows no bounds; her buoyant good humor is ever present; a welcome sound in any day is a shouted "Nank!" and a cheerful response "Whoop!"

"Johnny" always approaches his fellow students with a smile. As a friend he is sociable and as an associate he has no parallel. His character is of the noblest created and he is a natural-born leader of men. Within "Johnny's" being may be found one characteristic of leadership which is seldom found in any one man, this being the fact that he has made a success both as a Christian gentleman and a thoroughbred sportsman. He was president of the Y. M. C. A. and at the same time captained Elon's floormen through many a triumphant battle. May his ambitions match his ability.

"Ah, she's sweet." That was the ardent, half-whispered sentiment voiced by an important member of the annual staff when we said, "What will we write about Margaret?" Those who know her realize that such an opinion is not confined to one or two persons; instead, it is honestly shared by many. Her willingness to do her part in any undertaking is another of her outstanding characteristics.

JAMES FLOYD COBLE

*"In the cool, sequestered vale of life,
He keeps the noiseless terror of his way."*

James is a type of a fellow who is destined to make something of himself through his own tireless efforts. He is not presumptuous, not hasty in his conclusions, not thoughtless concerning the good of others, a serious student, and not a "social tea-hound." Above all, he realizes that college, although it offers a fellow the chance to broaden himself socially, is primarily an institution of learning. His daily work in the science laboratory cannot possibly help but reap vast rewards for him in his chosen life's work.

Optimism, hospitality, and industry characterize James. Smilingly his greatest recreation is in "bumming" to Greensboro on week-end nights, at which time he is greatly in demand by a fair damsel in that vicinity. But who wouldn't "bum" with such a "cause" as his?

A woman's man possibly to some, but primarily a true friend to the fellows he knew and respected. Charlie came to our campus from Charlottesville four years ago and was immediately accepted as an asset to the school. As a freshman he couldn't be dared, as a sophomore he was still willing to learn, as a junior he was a lovable friend to all, and as a senior we hate to part with this ever-popular campus individual. "Her ways are ways of pleasantness."

Here is a girl who got ahead of the rest of us and acquired a husband before leaving college. Maybe her cheerful smile is sufficient explanation. She is another one of those people who may be frequently found in the music building.

"To those who know thee not, no words can paint; and those who know thee, know all words are faint."

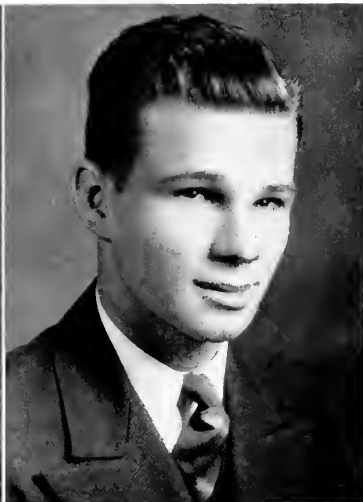

It really isn't necessary to try to think of Verna's outstanding qualities for the purpose of placing them in this publication, because the subject herself doesn't care a great deal what any of us think about the matter; at least, that is the attitude which she would have us believe is hers. It is an independence born and bred in the wilds—beg pardon, the traffic laws—of Lumber Bridge. She is a true friend to those who meet with her approval, but she is also capable of violent dislikes. Her judgment is usually true. Go to Verna if you would have a true evaluation of any person on the campus.

"Her voice was ever soft, gentle, and low, an excellent thing in woman."

They say that Sara is hard to know, but all her friends are unanimous in declaring there's no one more generous, more understanding, more unique. Sara delights in arguments, but we believe her greatest charm is in her unexpected, poignantly terse remarks that are spoken in her own inimitable way colored by the unmistakable sincerity behind them. Sara is primarily just, given no unnecessary words, and her determination is ever rewarded with success.

Unassuming and dignified is Junius. One can know his real worth and personality only by close association. He is a ministerial student of the first order and we understand that he is quite active in his home church in Burlington, N. C. He is a consecrated Christian gentleman, loyally and devotedly dedicated to his Master's cause. We feel, and rightfully so, that he is destined to do great things as an outstanding figure in the field of Christianity.

*"Give us a man of God's own mould,

On this side of the page, ladies and gentlemen, we present a true character of note, untouched by many feminine hands. We say "many" because we're in the "know". Seriously speaking, Leon has what it takes—the knack to get along with people and yet to enforce law and order. As a senior he has won the acclaim of his fellow students in his capacity as president of the Student Senate, and that's a tough assignment for any normal person.

Woodrow hails from back in God's country—eastern Virginia. He is admired by the casual observer, but only those who have had the privilege of being associated with him know him as the sincere and dependable friend that he is. In his days at Elon he has made the most of himself. Included in his curricula are student offices and campus activities. His noble aspirations promise for him a glorious tomorrow in his life's work.

La Verne combined a sprightly conviviality with the ability to make the Honor Roll with an apparent minimum of effort and maximum of unconcern. Her rosy outlook on life matches her eyes, but we've seen her temper to match her hair.

"A man is the part he plays among his fellows."

Luke has trodden the walks of Elon campus for four years, and his journey has been a pleasant one—not only to himself but to those who have walked with him, for to know Luke is to respect his friendship. He has served Elon well and in this, his last year, has climaxed his college career as president of the class of '37. Luke's greatest weakness was glaringly brought to his and other's eyes in his junior year when it was found that he, like a host of others of his sex, are susceptible to blondes. But he has learned his lesson and is thoroughly convinced that "All that glitters is not gold".

Charlie is an all 'round good egg, and if there is anyone who gets the most out of college life, it is he. He absolutely lacks the ability seriously to worry over any matter, and shakes off petty misfortunes with a shrug of indifference. His greatest asset, to those who know him well, is his clever, natural wit, even though he is a quiet, unobtrusive fellow in public. We're looking for great things to come from Charlie.

Another quotation that would amply fill the bill for "Shorty" is found in the old adage, "The best of things come in small packages". In his four short years at Elon, "Shorty", in his quiet, unassuming way, has gained favor with professors and students alike, and has warmed his way into the hearts of all who have known him as a friend—and he has no enemies. Sincere in his work and sportsman-like in play, we of the class of '37 are looking for great things to come of this cherished new son of Elon.

Rudy can never fail. He has been accused of being a rebel, revolutionist, or what have you, but when you narrow it all down, behold an individualist of the first order! He was Elon's "pepper box" on the gridiron for four years, captain in his last. ATHLETICS

Coach Douglas Clyde (Peahead) Walker, Elon Christians' mentor, who ranks in the group of "iron men of athletics" may justly boast in his southern Alabama drawl of having coached athletic teams, which have won fourteen championships in seven years. Last season he directed the Christians to the leadership of the North State football league.

Beginning with the formation of the North State conference in 1930 Coach Walker has won a championship in some sport yearly since. His stretch of wins is still underway with the winning of football and basketball titles this year.

His North State championship record follows: 1930, football and baseball; 1931, basketball and baseball; 1932, baseball; 1933, football, baseball, basketball; 1934, football, basketball and baseball; 1935, football, basketball, and baseball; 1936, football; 1937, football and basketball. This record shows that Coach Walker has produced seven consecutive conference winning teams in 1933, 1934 and 1935.

D. C. WALKER
Coach

He was a three-sport man at Howard, Birmingham and Vanderbilt from 1917 to 1921. At Vanderbilt, Walker was under the training of Coaches Dan McGugin and Ray Morrison.

Coach "Peahead" excelled in baseball, in which he was a heavy hitter. He put aside his professional career in 1926 when he went to A. C. C. as coach, to be lured away the following year by Elon.

With the opening of fall practice the prospects of the 1936 football season were extremely promising. Thirteen regulars of the preceding year's squad had returned, together with an unusually large supply of good material from the new recruits.

Pre-season practice on Comor Field revealed a formidable line, one of the heaviest ever to represent the college. A large number of seasoned linesmen made the formation of a forward wall comparatively easy. The tackles were James Day and Ben Hurst with Eddie Yurgaitis and Jack Fritts as substitutes. At the guard positions were the veterans Al Mastro and Hap Taylor along with Harry Kames, John Beaver and Al Gattis, as reserves. At the center position, Captain Rudy Walser, who had handled the job for three years again received the call, Archie Israel proved to be a very valuable understudy near the end of the season when Captain Walser was shifted to fill the vacancy at end. At end there was little worry. John Troppoli, Hal Bradley, Art Lea, a sophomore, who was later to win a varsity post, after the loss of Trippoli and Schlitter. The backfield, too, presented no problem. James Abbitt, Joe Caruso, Amos Shelton and Yale Goodes, who had served on the 1935 championship team, were available, and from the new recruits had come Don Humphries, Al Naulie, Dave Goldfarb, Charles Engles and Charlie Pittman.

Despite this wealth of material the season was an unhappy series of reversals. The record for the year numbered six victories, no ties and five defeats. The team played spasmodically, showing to better advantage against minor opposition, but playing less effectively against major opponents and against teams they should have defeated. However, after the season was completed it was shown on the books that the Christians had won the North State conference title for the fourth consecutive year.

N. C. STATE

Before a gala crowd of five thousand fans, the Elon Christians opened its 1936 campaign. The first half the Christians maintained a sturdy opposition, with a hard charging line which held the Wolfpacks in check. In fact, up to the closing minutes of the second quarter, the crowd was elated by the unexpected Christian defense. Suddenly with a tricky reverse, Ed Berlinske, State, made its only score of the first half. To compensate for this score Elon outplayed its strong opponents for nearly the entire thirty minutes of the second half. Near the close of the third quarter, Berlinski broke away for his second tally. The Christians were in scoring position three times, piercing the acclaimed State line with power plays, and overcoming their pass defense with six completed aeriels. James Abbutt's punts outdistanced the State kicks, and Walser's and Mastro's charging upset the smoothness of the Wolfpack attack. Passes from Shelton to Bradley were constantly dangerous.

The gradual evolving of a fast charging, confident, and cohesive football unit could be seen in this horrible 12 to 0 defeat.

WASHINGTON AND LEE

Led by Wilton Sample, hefty fullback, Washington and Lee defeated Elon by the impressive score of 27 to 0, in the Christians' second major of the season. Although Elon played hard football, they lacked the power to get through the General line, and were forced to resort to passes. The Generals, on the other hand, played a game marked by deception, speed and strength. Only twice did Elon penetrate into the foreign territory.

Schlitter, Hurst, and Walser were outstanding in the Christian line, while Abbutt and Shelton stood out in the backfield. Sample, Carson and Dunlap were the stars for the Generals.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Elon met its traditional northern rival under a tremendous psychological disadvantage. The Christians, twice defeated, faced an eleven of national repute which had been lauded for its stalwart line, its tremendous power, and its potent passing attack. It was possible to play the defensive system of three bucks and a kick with the hope of holding down the score. Instead, Elon lashed back at the powerful Colonials with a new formidable double-wing attack that kept the stronger Washington eleven fighting all the way in order to run the score to 38 to 0, 26 of these points being scored in the last half after the Christians were whipped down. Abbutt and Shelton, Mastro and Bradley led the Christians.

WEST CHESTER TEACHERS COLLEGE

After holding the favorite Teachers College to one touchdown in the first half, the Christians were repulsed in the final half by a more aggressive eleven who converted all their breaks to tally 20 points. After injuries had handicapped Elon, the Teachers were able to run wild, scoring at will. The only bright spot of the Christians' attack was the outstanding playing of Capt. Walser, Rabbit Abbitt, and James Day. When the sun had set the Christians had received their fourth defeat, 26 to 0.

LA SALLE

Traveling once more into Yankee territory, the Christians met an alert team from Philadelphia, and returned once again on the short end of a 39 to 13 score. Early in the first quarter, La Salle recovered a fumble near the Christians' goal line. A short flat pass to the right, and a short plunge gave the opponents a 6-0 score. It was in this same quarter that Elon scored on an unusual play. Line plungers carried the ball down to the Greenies' 40 yard line. Shelton received the ball, and dropping back to permit his receiver to get clear, hurled the ball over the center of the line. A La Salle player, attempting to intercept, deflected the ball, which settled snugly into the arms of Hal Bradley, who sped the remaining twenty yards for a score. However, the line of Elon failed to halt the plunging backs of La Salle, and they ran the score to 39 before Abbitt, on a line plunge, ran thirty yards to tally the last Elon score. This game marked the last defeat of the Christians for the 1936 season.

APPRENTICE SCHOOL OF NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

The only bright spot of the first quarter was the excellent playing of James Abbitt and Don Humphries, both later to figure in the first 1936 Elon victory. Staying deep into the Apprentice territory, the Christians were still unable to give it the extra added punch to place the ball over the goal. With four minutes to play Abbitt, on an end sweep, twisted free for the longest run of the game. Then, a thirty yard pass from Shelton to Bradley gave the Christians their only score of the game. The effort to convert the point after touchdown failed.

Outstanding for Elon in this game was the play of Abbitt, Walser, Humphries, Caruso, Day, and Mastro. For the Apprentice, Spangler and Thomas.

DUKE "B"

Getting the jump on the Junior Blue Devils, the Elon Christians scored three touchdowns in the opening period before Duke "B" realized they were in a football game. Pat Moran led the scoring in this initial period, tallying two touchdowns on short line bucks. Other players whose work was noteworthy were Charles Pittman, Al Neale, Don Humphries, and Amos Shelton in the backfield. The line play was featured by the excellent work of Archie Israel, Art Lea, Hap Taylor and Ben Hurst.

The hot weather was undoubtedly responsible for a diminution of the Duke power as seen by the unusual number of substitutes on both sides. Elon, however, was definitely and undisputedly the master of the day as is noted by the 51 points scored by the fast stepping and hard driving backs of the Christians.

LENOIR-RHYNE COLLEGE

Elon's Christians set sail on the turbulent North State sea and breezed home to a 38 to 0 victory—their first conference game of the season and one step onward in winning their fourth consecutive title. Opening the game with a bang, the Christians marched straight down the field from the kick-off and scored the first touchdown of the game after only three minutes had been played. Abbitt plunged over after he placed the ball in scoring distance on several reverses. The Bears never threatened during the entire game. Rabbit Abbitt scored four touchdowns to lead the attack, ably assisted by Amos Shelton. The blocking, a highlight in the Christians' victory, was featured by little Joe Caruso and Yale Goodes. Cecil Sigman and Buck Perry stood out for the Bears on the defensive.

EMORY AND HENRY

In perhaps the most startling upset of the Christians' campaign, a team highly favored to take Elon in camp were set back by the hard working unit of ball players that Elon showed in this game. The first quarter demonstrated that Elon was determined to avenge the previous year's defeat. Bradley and Abbitt scored all the Christians' 25 points in this, the last non-conference game of the season.

The looming defeat moved the Emory and Henry players into action. When they finally started to click, the game was nearly over.

GUILFORD COLLEGE

Elon met its traditional rival in the Memorial Stadium at Greensboro on Turkey Day, which certainly was turkey for the Christians. Having their own way for the entire game, Elon marched to its second conference victory of the season at the expense of Guilford by the score of 39 to 0. The only thrilling play for the spectators was a ninety yard run by James Abbitt, all-conference full-back, in the third period. Captain Walser, who had played seven years of football, reached the dream of every ball player—he scored the first touchdown of his career on a forty yard pass from Amos Shelton.

CATAWBA COLLEGE

Desirous of ending the season with a victory, Elon entered the Catawba contest with a determined, aggressive spirit. The first quarter dispelled any fear of defeat, for the team appeared to work cohesively and effectively. The Indian attack was neatly repelled, and at no time was it permitted to penetrate into the scoring zone. The Christians took advantage of several breaks in this period and scored two touchdowns in rapid order. In the second quarter the Indians, on well executed plays, marched slowly but surely to the Christians' goal line, where they scored their first goal, and a few minutes later their second. Receiving the kick-off, the Christians, on a beautiful pass play, scored their third touchdown, to take the lead at the half. The second half was still Elon's, and the Christians ran the score to 33 in the fourth quarter, winning the conference for the fourth straight year.

BASKETBALL

"A good big man is better than a good little man", so thought Coach "Peahead" Walker when he put a team on the court averaging close to six feet, three inches tall. This was proven as the Christian team did nothing more than win the North State Conference Championship and only lost five games out of the twenty on their schedule. Because of the close race in the conference, it was no easy task for the basketeers to pull out on top. The team had its ups and downs during the season and could really play ball when the "going was tough". With such offensive power as Paul Roye, Ike Fesmire, and Lloyd Whitley dropping the ball through the nets and with Hal Bradley, "Red" Cromlish and Capt. John Cameron (who dropped out of school in January), on the defensive end, the team could be referred to as one of the best ever to wear an Elon uniform. When substituting was necessary, Abritt and Odom were ready for the call and are to be highly commended for their work. The names of Longest, Potter, and McBrayer could not be left out because of their assistance in the making of this great team.

Opening the season with their annual northern trip, the cagemen did very well winning four out of six games. The two losses were to two good teams, Washington and Lee, and to George Washington University, the former being the winner of the Southern Conference, and the latter being considered one of the best teams in the East. The Christians took St. Johns College of Annapolis and Southeastern University into fold with little trouble but had to rally in the last few minutes to beat Randolph-Macon, "Yellow Jackets", and the Apprentice School of Newport News, Virginia.

Starting the Conference games off with a bang, the basketeers walloped the Catawba "Indians", 52-28. A scrappy High Point team next came to Elon and beat the Christians, who appeared to have "choked" up and could not get their eyes on the basket. The final score was 30-21. The Elon ball hawks again came back into form against Atlantic Christian College—trouncing them 50-27. A highly confident Lenoir-Rhyne team came to our campus with good intentions of "pinning the ears" of the Christian aggregation back but were fooled when the local boys played one of the best games of the year, winning 42-38. "Yes sir!", "Red" Cromlish was the star of this game.

BASKETBALL

Taking to the road, the cagemen had a close call against the Appalachian "Rippers", when the Elon quintet eked out a 34-32 victory. The next stop was Hickory where the Lenoir-Rhyne "Bears" turned the tables on Elon, scoring a 38-32 win. The hoopsters had little to worry about when they walloped the Guilford "Quakers" and the Western Carolina Teachers 64-31 and 49-13, respectively.

In a non-conference tilt with Wake Forest, the Elon five came close to winning, but were nosed out 43-31 in a hard fought game.

The high point of the season for the Christians was the low point for the High Point, when the team and most of the school traveled to the Panther campus to encounter one of the best games in the history of the Conference. The game wasn't decided until the second extra period when the Elon team turned on their full power to tame the Panther five 45-40. Our freshman forward, Whitley, showed his home town folks something that memorable night by getting a total of nineteen points. Two of the senior boys lowered their dignity to risk getting into a scrap and rang the Panthers' "Bell", which was typical of the many celebrating the victory.

Guilford was again taken into camp with little trouble, getting trimmed handily 60-24. Although the Christian five appeared to be going "stale" at this point, they were able to turn back with not as much trouble as the score indicates: Catawba, 30-24; Atlantic Christian College, 34-32, and Appalachian, 35-29. And another highly successful season was ended for the Elon Christians, who were captained by Hal "Hunk" Bradley after the retirement of John Cameron.

Prospects for next year appear to be better than ever because of the return of every man on the squad: Roye, high scorer of the Conference the past three years; Bradley, captain-elect for the coming season; Cromlish, Abbott, and McBrayer have one more year, Fesmire two more, and Whitley, Odom, and Potter, being freshmen, have three more seasons left. "Wimpy" Fowler, our manager, couldn't be left out as he did very well looking out for the equipment and taking care of the score book.

“E” MEN’S CLUB

The purpose of this organization is to promote the athletic interests of the college, the spirit of wholesome fellowship among the representatives of the various teams, among the student body, and the best interests of the college as a whole.

This club was reorganized this year and put on a stronger basis than ever before. Under the leadership of President Ben Hurst it has well accomplished its purpose and become one of the leading organizations on the campus. The other officers are: Al Mastro, Vice-President; and James Day, Secretary and Treasurer.

FRATERNITY BASKETBALL

This year fraternity teams were inaugurated and, subsequently, keen rivalry. Each club had its host of fans who increased the spirit prevailing at the games. The fraternity teams participating were Sigma Phi Beta, Kappa Psi Nu, Alpha Pi Delta, and Iota Tau Kappa. The teams frequently took on off-campus teams, playing some here and taking some trips.

Although a league was not organized on the campus this year, there will probably be an inter-fraternity league next season.

These games afforded special entertainment when the varsity was away on trips, and at various games the larger portion of the student body attended.

WRESTLING TEAM

For the first time in the history of Elon College a full wrestling schedule of seven meets was held.

The schedule was as follows:

Appalachian State Teachers College.....	30	Elon	5
High Point	15	Elon	5
Spray	12	Elon	16
High Point	16	Elon	12
Naval Apprentice	22½	Elon	11½

2 meets are pending—Appalachian and Spray Y.

The team has done remarkably well considering the new and inexperienced men on the squad and the veteran teams that they have encountered.

The personnel of the team:

- 118 lb.—Jimmy Wilburn—He is a scrappy boy who is expected to produce great ability for the next season.
 126 lb.—Dick Bigelow, from Portsmouth, Virginia, is showing fine form on the mats and is credited with one fall over High Point.
 135 lb.—Billy Martin is the captain of the team and has lost but one match this season.
 145 lb.—Carl Foushee won the only match against the veteran Appalachian Grapplers with a fall.
 155 lb.—Clyde Foushee has two victories to his credit this season.
 165 lb.—Azariah Thompson is wrestling for the first time and is making a fine battle against experienced opponents.

175 lb.—McGalliard has made great progress and is expected to continue for next year's team.

Unlimited—James Day, in the match with Spray, got a double fall on his opponent to win the meet.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Girls' Athletic Association was organized this year for the purpose of promoting a wide participation in sports and high standards in the conduct of each activity.

The sports offered were soccer, volley ball, basketball, baseball, tennis, and hiking. The soccer and baseball games created much interest, as well as the basketball and tennis tournaments. For participation in these sports, points were awarded toward a letter. There were two letters offered, a junior letter awarded for four hundred points, and a senior letter for five hundred additional points.

The members of the association enjoyed a weiner roast in the fall and a banquet in the spring, at which time awards were given to those who had earned their points. In April the association sponsored a Play Day for high school girls. There were a large number present to participate in various activities.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

During the basketball season, while the team was away on its trips, something had to be done to create a little athletic spirit on the campus. Under the direction of Coach Ellis Fysal, former University of North Carolina star athlete, strong teams were organized which had much interest in campus basketball.

The intra-mural league was made up of the following teams: the East Winds, Razzle Dazzle, Second Floor North Dormitory, Third Floor North Dormitory, Publishing House, and Day Students.

The Third Floor of North Dormitory was victorious in all the games that they played in this league. Cleveland Campbell, forward, was at the top of the scoring line.

All the teams are planning a very successful season for next year.

A new sport was added to the Elon intra-mural curriculum this year when four teams were organized to play softball two afternoons a week. It was indeed surprising to see the number of fans out to witness these games, which at times afforded such thrills as breaking a jaw. When the varsity was away the teams took to Comer held to play their games, some were played in front of West Dorm, and when they were chased off by the "law" they played them out at the high school.

The teams have some very outstanding material, former college and university stars on the faculty team, and lettermen on the dormitory teams.

From all indications at present, North Dormitory seems to have the "jinx" on all other teams. Apparently the faculty will wind up in the cellar. Better luck to you Dr. Dickie.

TENNIS

Dan "Rusty" Jones is the Coach of the Tennis Team as well as the No. 1 player. He is earnestly striving this year to produce one of the finest teams ever to play on Elon's courts.

He has an excellent record of personal victories and championships. For the past two years he has won 40 out of 42 of his college matches. He was the North Carolina State Doubles champion in 1935, and also semi-finalist in the Singles in the North Carolina State Championship tournament held at Sedgfield, N. C.

==== The Phippsli ====

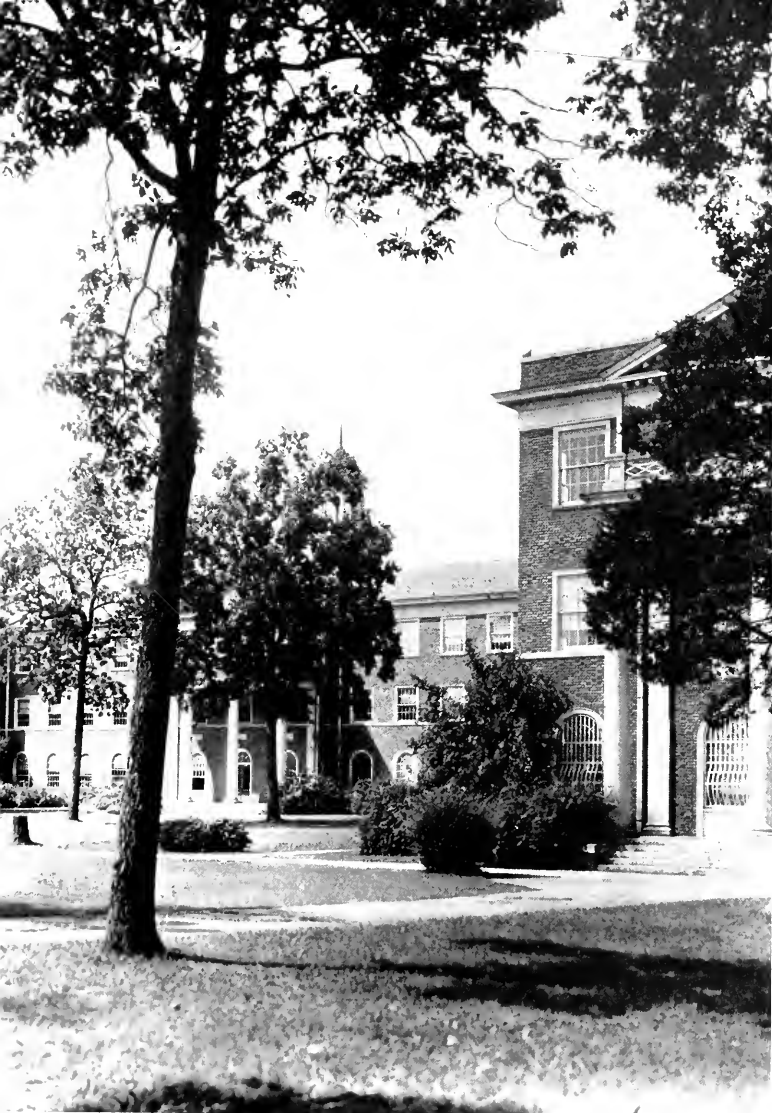

The Tennis team last year experienced a most successful season by winning 18 out of 24 matches, and capturing the North State North Conference Championship with little difficulty.

The team will have five veterans on the court from last year: "Rusty" Jones, Arthur Greenwald, Eugene Malbon, L. E. Smith, Jr., and Dick Mathews. L. E. Smith has been elected captain for this year and James Parker, manager.

The loss of John Dickerson and George Taylor from last year's team is being replaced by three new boys who show signs of real promise: Gordon Craybill, former High School Champion of Washington, D. C., Fred Perkins, Junior Champion of Eastern Virginia, and Bruce Flory, of Dayton, Ohio.

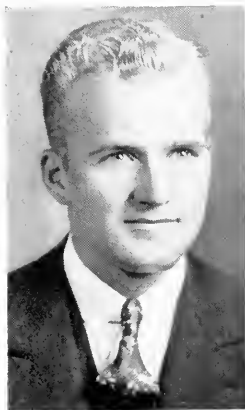

This year's team is much more balanced than last year's, and they are working diligently, showing much spirit and enthusiasm. Elon is anticipating an unusually good year in tennis.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student government is taken for granted by students who have attended Elon College during the past several years; actually, however, student government in its present form, has been in existence for less than two decades.

Prior to the establishment of the Student Senate, there existed for some time a modified form of student government for men. The organization found expression in a Student Government Club. After some agitation, however, a more definite form of organization and more definite power were secured. Beginning with the fall term of 1919, and in accord with an agreement between students and faculty, the government of the men in the student body of Elon College was vested in the hands of a Student Senate.

The women were not granted the privilege of self-government until a bit later. The College Catalogue for 1919, following a presentation of the new constitution for men's government, contains a brief paragraph pertaining to government of the women students of the college. The government of the ladies is vested in the Faculty as the final authority. The President and Dean of Women, assisted by the matrons and lady faculty members, are directly responsible. There is a growing sentiment for student self-government among the ladies. The next College Catalogue, that of 1920, announced the granting of a constitution for student self-government among the young ladies. The government was placed in the care of a Student Council.

ELON COLLEGE GLEE CLUB

Although the Glee Club was not organized until the second semester it soon became popular on the campus. Under the direction of the student director, Landon Walker, they offer excellent entertainment in chapel services, concerts, and other occasions.

At their first business meeting Albert Mastrolattista was elected president, and John Horton, secretary and treasurer.

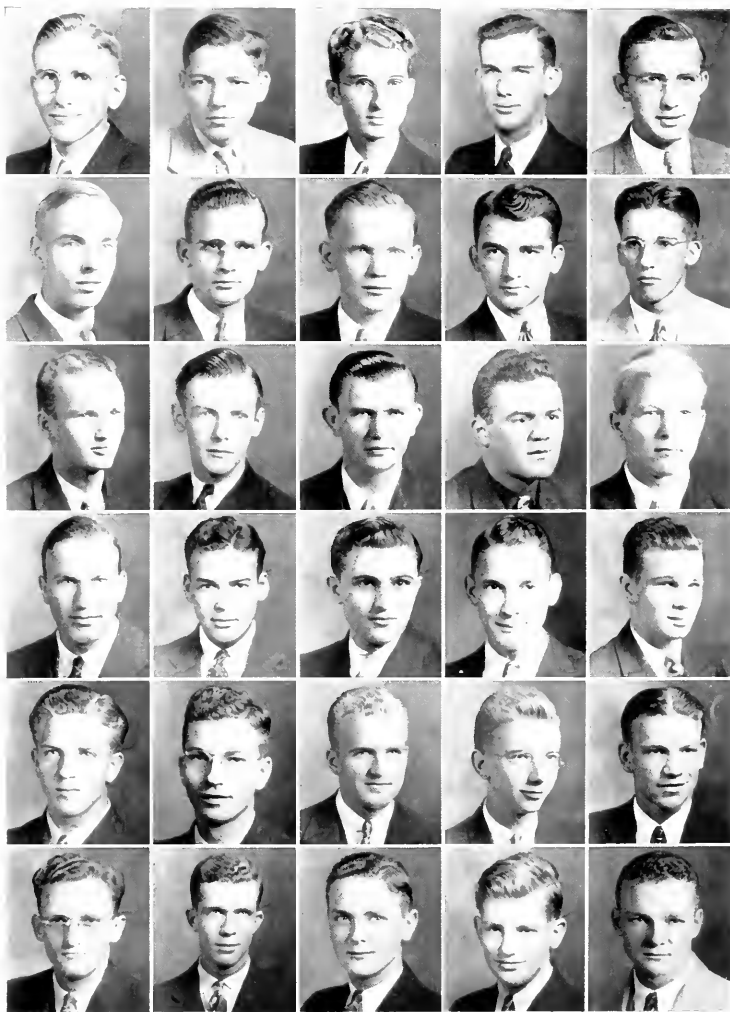

Their repertoire consists of semi-classical and popular music. Their own original style of singing is very effective.

On March 22, they gave a joint concert with the college band, sponsored by the PHIPPSICLI. The program was received by a pleased audience which filled the Whitley Memorial Auditorium.

DR. JOHNSON LITERARY SOCIETY

In the Fall of 1935 several enthusiastic students conceived the idea that a literary society was greatly needed on the Elon campus. From this idea a society with twelve members was formed. From this small group has grown a powerful and beneficial organization, now boasting a full quota of thirty members.

The most unusual characteristics of the society is its initiative and self reliance. The members feel that as college students they are capable of formulating and carrying out their own constructive plan of improvement. With this view in mind the society has been reluctant about asking suggestions or aid of any kind from the faculty. Depending upon this self reliance the members have shown an unusual desire to improve their ability in debating, in extemporaneous speaking and in general cultural qualities.

The group is very diverse in its interest. At its weekly meeting many different topics are discussed. These topics consist in general, in past, present and future problems and questions. The society is greatly interested in the problems on the campus and its members take a leading part in all school activities.

The outstanding social event of the year was their very colorful and impressive banquet held in December, in the society hall.

Beginning with this year the society is sponsoring a debating team which has had remarkable success. This team has encountered many strong teams, including Roanoke, Appalachian and Furman.

Truly the group is almost as diverse as the Johnson Club of old, for which it is named. Taking into consideration the aims and ideals of the society we feel that much progress has been made toward the literary side of our college life.

THE MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

Sixteen members comprised the Ministerial Association this year. Led by its president, Alfonso Grissom, and secretary-treasurer, John Garner, the club met weekly on Friday afternoons, for discussion on the main problems of the fundamentals of religion. These group discussions purposed to bring to the members a greater understanding, to give them another opportunity for preparation for their future careers, as well as to discover the viewpoints of others and compare them with their own. On some occasions they were privileged to hear visiting speakers and members of the College faculty, who were of greater experience in this field. Among these lecturers were Dr. L. E. Smith, Professor D. J. Bowden, Dr. J. R. Clinton of Philadelphia, Dr. R. G. Larkin, the astronomer, and Rev. Samuel Voss of Raleigh.

One Sunday evening in each month, the Ministerial Association conducted a Vesper service. These were always of interest to the student body, as well as an inspiration.

PAN HELLENIC COUNCIL

The mutual desire of the various social clubs of the campus for a method of dealing with the problems that concerned all the clubs led to the organization of the Pan Hellenic Council during the year 1929-30.

There is equal representation of each social club.

This council has proved indispensable ever since its organization, in settling matters of common interest to the administration and the social clubs.

The meetings promote a spirit of understanding and cooperation among all the social clubs.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

It is the purpose of the Commercial Club to bring the students into closer contact with the business world. In the spring semester, lectures and demonstrations were given by business men and by specialists in office appliances. The members acquire a thorough knowledge of the mimeograph, dictating machine, and other office equipment.

Due to the greatly increased membership, the club was divided into two groups. Each group took a business inspection tour to the Jefferson Standard Life and Pilot Life Insurance companies. There the students were able to observe the modern equipped machines in use. The trip was very beneficial in that the students were able to observe the business atmosphere in which a well organized and efficient staff works. After the visit, the students took their minds off the business and spent a very enjoyable day in Greensboro.

The motive that the club is striving for is to develop those traits of ethics, tact, and cooperation which will give them a better and more efficient insight into the business world.

THE BAND

The Elon College Band is a small, but well trained group of musicians. Under the very capable direction of the student director, Mr. Landon Walker, they render concerts upon various occasions and help keep up the school spirit at the football and basketball games. Dressed in bright colored uniforms they make a neat marching unit on parade. The band usually marches between the halves of football games behind the high-stepping drum-major, Harold Hilburn.

PI GAMMA MU

Pi Gamma Mu is the National Social Science Honor Society, and its purpose is the inculcation of the ideals of scholarship, scientific attitude and method and social service in the study of all social problems. Its particular purpose is to send out people imbued with social idealism, trained in scientific thought and encouraged to help others to be scientific in their thinking on social questions. The organization originated at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, in the spring of 1924. At that time Dr. Leroy Allen called together a few of his most promising students who decided to found a national honor society in the field of social science. Today Pi Gamma Mu chapters are found in all parts of the country.

In 1929 the Alpha Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu in North Carolina was installed at Elon College. The chapter gives recognition, through membership, to upperclassmen, alumni, and faculty members, who have attained distinction in the social sciences.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Elon College Players were this year under the direction of Hilda Lee Heatwole. Meeting on the second and fourth Monday of each month, the Club was composed of those who were highly interested in things dramatic, and who were all willing and able to take part in the Players' activities. The Program Committee, with Gwendolyne Tillmanns as chairman, presented programs at each meeting, including lectures by Dr. Collins, who discussed "The Ideal College Dramatic Club", and by Professor Bowden, speaking on "Drama in the Church". Sara Virginia Hook read "Rich Man, Poor Man", and a group of players presented a radio play for the entertainment of the Club.

Outstanding in the dramatic year was the production of the comedy, "Three-Cornered Moon", late in the fall. The adventures of the crazy Rimplegars, with their prospective suicides, their loss of the family fortune, and their subsequent alteration of their conception of values, proved an entertaining theme.

In the spring, a program of one-act plays was presented. "Trifles" and "Rich Man, Poor Man" were cast from the Club members, and given March 11.

THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club was formed to acquaint those in and majoring in Home Economics with some of the activities which every housewife daily carries on. Virginia Kerns, as president, has been a wise leader, and her associates have diligently aided her.

The group has created social atmosphere in providing teas and luncheons for the faculty and students of Elon. In these activities the members have gained much experience toward becoming deft waitresses and gracious, clever hostesses.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Through the efforts of Mrs. C. M. Cannon, Williamston, N. C., and of Miss Virginia Fitzhugh, former director of dramatics of the College, Elon secured a charter for a chapter of Delta Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, in February, 1933. There were eight charter members. Since that time, sixteen more members have been initiated, all having come up to the requirements through persistent and honest endeavor.

This organization stimulated interest in dramatic activities, secures for the college all the advantages provided by a large national honorary fraternity, and serves as a reward for worthy efforts in participating in the plays staged by the dramatic organization of the college. This cast in no way aims to take the place of the regular college dramatic club, but fosters and aids it in any way possible.

MAY DAY 1936

"The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring, Tra La", accompanied a goodly audience on May 1, 1936, to witness the festivities of Elon College's annual celebrated May Day. Typically beautiful spring weather, and a warm sun helped to make the activities more pleasant, as a program that had long been in preparation was presented on the campus in front of the Alamance Building.

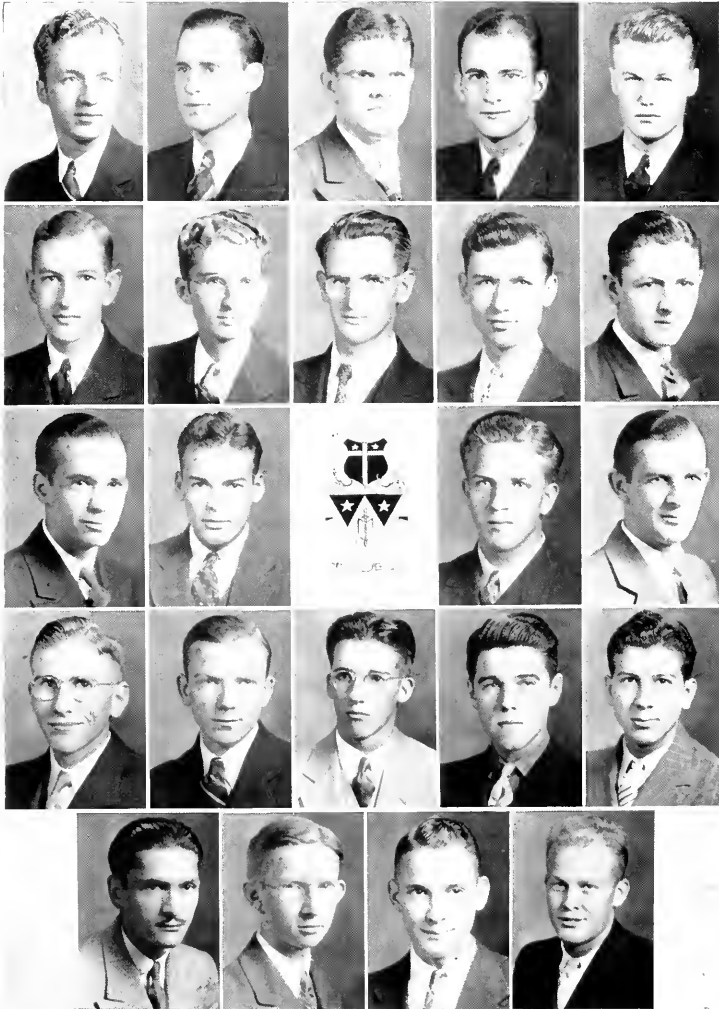

The entertainment was ostensibly in honor of the gracious May Queen, Miss Ester Cole, and the handsome May King, W. W. Kimball. A Pirate dance and a scarf dance formed a part of the program, with Elon tumblers adding variety. In addition, the traditional May Pole dance was given a prominent place, as well as a Minuet by the members of the May Court. "Tank" Nelson provided entertainment for the King and Queen with his excellent imitation of bird calls, and his capable manipulation of the harmonica, presenting a group of diversified selections in his own inimitable way.

Lanson Granger was Master of Ceremonies, showing to good advantage his talent for management and his own pleasant personality. The whole program was under the direction of Mrs. Johnsie Cobb, assisted by Miss Frances Goodwin, who, after long hours of practice, gave to Elon College another successful and very pleasant May Day.

"We Bring the Best Ones Back"

Where Elon Meets Burlington!

Dear, my darling

I know that you are the sweetest girl I ever hope to know. I've known you almost all my life and I still love you to death. You are my very best friend and no matter what becomes of us, I'll never, never change. We have had some swell times together, haven't we? I do wish you'd come back next year 'cause I just can't imagine being in school without you, but if you've got to go out into this cruel world and make a living, you've gotta go — Don't ever forget me 'cause

I love you, most!
"Bon"
